

As all the required header files and library files are referenced using relative paths, there is no need to manually configure the path configuration. To build the solution:

Open visual studio - > Open and load the solution -> Clean solution -> Build solution -> Run program.